TRADING HALT ON THE ASX

MC Mining Limited (MC Mining or the Company) issued a cautionary announcement on 28 July 2022 noting the rise in its share price. Following further share price movements, the Company's ordinary shares have been placed into a trading halt on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) (ticker: MCM). The Company's ordinary shares will continue to trade on the and Johannesburg Stock Exchange (ticker: MCZ) and AIM market of the London Stock Exchange plc (ticker: MCM). Save as set out in this announcement, the Company confirms that it is not aware of any reason for the recent share price movement.

As previously reported, the Company continues to advance the funding processes for the Makhado hard coking coal project. The funding is expected to include a combination of debt and equity to be issued by the Company. The equity portion of the potential fundraise is likely to be undertaken at a discount to the Company's current share price and subject to prevailing market conditions. There can be no guarantee that a capital raising will be completed, and further announcements will be made in due course, as appropriate. MC Mining expects to make a further announcement by Monday, 12 September 2022, whereupon it will apply for its shares to recommence trading on the ASX.
